Office Order

In convergence with the Animal and Fisheries Resources Department (AFRD), Government of Bihar, a total of 1,250 Pashu Sakhis from the districts of Patna, Nawada, Nalanda, Aurangabad, Bhojpur, Muzaffarpur, Gaya, Rohtas, Jamui, Sitamarhi, Banka and Purbi Champaran have been trained under the A-HELP initiative over the past three years.

At present, these Pashu Sakhis are actively engaged in delivering essential livestock management services in their respective areas. Their key responsibilities include deworming, vaccination, artificial insemination support, primary animal health care, and awareness generation on various government livestock schemes. Their services play a vital role in strengthening rural livestock development, improving animal health, and enhancing the livelihoods of rural households.

Over the years, the contribution of Pashu Sakhis has been commendable, with a significant positive impact on community-level livestock management. To ensure the continued improvement and effectiveness of their services, it is essential that they receive periodic updates on new technologies, improved practices, updated medicines, and ongoing government schemes.

In this context, a Refresher Training Programme for Pashu Sakhis working under the A-HELP initiative will be organised at the Seminar Hall during the Saras Mela at Gandhi Maidan, from 16th to 21st December 2025. The training will focus on scientific livestock management, vaccination protocols, reproductive health services, and other technical areas necessary for effective field-level service delivery. The detailed training schedule is enclosed as Annexure.

Instructions:
